

US war UKR

By Anthony Shell

May 2022

To a considerable extent, this report departs from similar, previous, work in regard to the content format – it has the minimal, necessary explanatory text and, instead, uses direct scans of source documents and images so as to show the actuality, and the manner, in which the US Administration (Washington DC) has fomented the 2022 war in Ukraine (and, by intention, to the rest of Europe)

The outcome of this particular research is of the discovery of the following matters concerning events in Ukraine, prior to the beginning of 2022 (and subsequent, contemporary developments):

(1) That from 2014 and onwards NATO was using its de facto (and very considerable) presence in Ukraine specifically to provide training, most specifically, for the Ukrainian Military in its war against the ethnic Russian people of the Donetsk and the Luhansk regions of Eastern Ukraine – a war that involved war crimes against those people, in that region.

(2) That NATO has, in its execution of that ‘project’, formed very close working contacts with extensive, very extreme neo-NAZI units, within Kyiv’s Ukrainian Military Forces.

(3) This horrific situation has been the direct outcome of actions, beginning pre-2009, by the US politician Joseph BIDEN (as a US Senator, Chairman of The US Foreign Relations Committee, US Vice President, and the US President from January 2021).

(4) That, over the last eight years, the UK Government has greatly assisted US Washington DC in the hate and war mongering objectives within Europe – US objectives that have led to the current, calamitous, situation within Ukraine. An obedient, subservient UK has now become one of the major ‘by proxy’ belligerents in that conflict.

This work is an ongoing project.

Ukraine's new governing coalition recently announced its intention to pass a law against joining military alliances, which will fulfill Ukrainian President Viktor Yanukovich's campaign promise to prevent Ukraine from becoming a member in NATO. The new president's opponents in parliament argue that this new strategy may result in pushing Ukraine back into the Russian "sphere of influence" and out of the European fold.

The encirclement of Russia. The NATO agenda includes the incorporation of states close to the borders of Russia into a NATO controlled political/military alliance. Areas of particular interest are countries surrounding the Baltic Sea, the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea regions. Notably, this NATO proxy group shows Kiev (Ukraine) as a de facto NATO centre-of-operations, for Central Europe, the Balkans, for the Caucuses, and for the central Eurasian region.

Chechen Terrorist Attacks Pending In Crimea

I received this from a reliable source in Ukraine.

Many people are in deadly danger and their life can depend on your reaction.

Adam Osmayev, one of many volunteer battalion commanders, called a press-conference and said that he received information from a highly reliable informer about planned terrorist attacks in Crimea.

He said that the Head of Chechen Republic (Russia) and one of Putin's cronies, Ramzan Kadyrov, sent 4 special units (5 to 7 people each) to organize terrorist attacks among civilians living in Crimea which was occupied by Russia in March, 2014.

According to the source, these groups will target Central and Kuibyshev markets in Simferopol, Angar pass on Simferopol-Yalta route. Among other possible targets Adam Osmayev also named Christian Orthodox Church in Simferopol and some spots in Sevastopol, but, unfortunately, the informer could not get more information about their specific location.

Putin may plot to blame these terrorist attacks on Crimean Tatars who largely oppose Russian occupation of the peninsula.

I will add more information to the post as soon as I get it.

Chechnya and Ingushetia saw a surprise surge in clashes between government forces and rebels in recent weeks. The government side has suffered casualties for the first time in months. It is too early to say if this uptick in violence represents a lasting trend or a temporary setback for the authorities, but experts warn that local tensions are

Head of Stratfor, 'Private CIA,' Says Overthrow of Yanukovych Was 'The Most Blatant Coup in History'

Posted on December 20, 2014 by Eric Zuesse.

Eric Zuesse

In a December 19th interview in the Russian magazine Kommersant, George Friedman, who is the Founder and CEO of Stratfor, the 'Shadow CIA' firm, says of the overthrow of Ukraine's President Viktor Yanukovych that occurred on February 22nd of 2014: "It really was the most blatant coup in history." Perhaps he is saying this because of the videos that were uploaded to the Web which showed it to be so, but this statement by him contradicts the description that is asserted by the U.S. White House and the European Union, and the Western press, which description is that Yanukovych's overthrow was instead just the result of the U.S. Government's \$5+ billion expense since 1991 to establish 'democracy' in Ukraine.

Friedman further says that "The Russian authorities can not tolerate a situation in which western armed forces will be [in Ukraine] a hundred kilometers from Kursk or Voronezh [in Russia]", and that the goal of the U.S. is to "maintain the balance of power in Europe, helping the weaker party," which he says is Europe. He furthermore says, "The United States considers the most dangerous potential alliance to be between Russia and Germany. This would be an alliance of German technology and capital with Russian natural and human resources." So: the U.S. is trying to antagonize Germans against Russia. This will weaken both of them. However, that would be not a "balance of power" but an increasing imbalance of power in favor of the United States. The Russian interviewer failed to catch his inconsistency on that.

The protest movement under way in Belarus appears to the world as yet another “color revolution” for “regime change.” The target this time is the autocracy of President Alyaksandr Lukashenka’s, following the rigged presidential election in August and disproportionate use of force against protesters from then to date.

This movement’s Western sympathizers, its detractors in Moscow, and Belarus’s beleaguered authorities have (from their varying perspectives) adopted the interpretive framework of the “color revolution”—whether in supporting, opposing, or simply describing this movement in Belarus.

environments, and asking them to figure out new ways to employ technology and information to deliver effects in the physical, virtual, and cognitive domains,” said Vile. “We won’t tell them how to operate; instead, we’ll tell them what needs to be done and ensure they have the tools and authorities to do it.”

Just months after the battalion’s activation, one of its ECTs deployed to the Army’s Joint Multinational Readiness Center in Hohenfels, Germany in support of exercise Saber Junction 2019, a large-force exercise involving nearly 5,400 participants from 16 allied and partner nations.

2nd Lt. Shane Neal, an Offensive Cyber Operations planner with the ECT, was part of a cyber planning cell integrated into the training brigade’s plans staff during the exercise. Neal said Saber Junction was an opportunity for the ECT to plan and organize the integration of cyber warfare strategies and tactics, assigning CEMA technologies to battlefield operations.

At Hohenfels the ECT provided direct CEMA support to the 1st Infantry Division. Capt. Adam Schinder, the ECT commander, said the team was able to dominate the information environment across the entire JMRC network, enabling remote cyber operators at Fort Gordon to exploit and dominate the network, and effectively integrate cyberspace and information operations.

The 915th CWB is expected to double CEMA support, from two to four training rotations per year, at the Army’s Combat Training Centers at Fort Irwin, Calif., and Fort Polk, La., and improve the readiness of Army maneuver units to defend cyber key terrain and exploit cyberspace opportunities.

“ECTs allow for additional options and capabilities for commanders to integrate into their scheme of maneuver and fires plan, to deliver effects at the timing and tempo needed by the tactical echelon,” said Lt. Col. Matt Davis, commander of the 915th CWB.

According to Maj. David Raser, the 915th CWB Operations Officer (S-3), the battalion has (17-series Military Occupational Specialty) cyber and EW officers, NCOs, and enlisted Soldiers, as well as IO, Signal, Psychological Operations and SIGINT personnel. And much like other Army battalions, there are support personnel, such as administrative and supply specialists, in the headquarters.

Soldiers interested in serving in the 915th CWB should contact their organization career counselors or branch managers.

Upon completion of this contract he returned to the United States, contracted to work in Dallas, Texas providing advisory support to the executive staff, training stateside personnel and assisting in the set-up of additional corporate offices throughout the former Soviet Union.

Major Gallagher entered the United States Army in April 1998. He completed Basic Combat Training at Fort Leonardwood, Missouri, Russian language training at the Defense Language Institute Presidio of Monterey (DLIPOM) and Advanced Individual Training (AIT) at Goodfellow Air Force Base qualifying as a Cryptologist/Linguist in the Military Intelligence Corps. After serving at Fort Huachuca, Arizona in various capacities (Team Leader, Squad Leader and Instructor), Major Gallagher attended Officer Candidate School (OCS) at Fort Benning, Georgia, commissioning as a Second Lieutenant in the Transportation Corps in December 2001.

Figure 29 OSCE Report On War Crimes By The Security Service of Ukraine (SSU / SBU)

Yana, victim's wife on SBU officials:

'They have beaten him to death simply. When they came – they took him away to torture him. When they brought his body back – the heels were blue, the feet were blue. He's got some traces of punctures on his hands... I don't know... what they did to him, punctured him or drove the needles under his nails – there were holes on his hands. Each bone has a hole in it. They tortured him like... when there was a real war no one has tortured people the way they tortured him.'

The above page 6 of the JMTG-U Top-Level Briefing (page 6) is seen as VERY CONSIDERABLE IMPORTANCE, when assessing the contemporary situation within Europe.

- ## JMTG-U Initiatives
- Establish US Army CALL representation at the General Staff level to assist with Lessons Learned analysis, documenting, and efficient flow of information flow (JMTG-U LOE 4)
  - Develop resources that allow continued training for UKR National Guard (Mol) leaders
    - Current FMS case ended when Fearless Guardian finished
  - Influence the General Staff to create a 2 man Lessons Learned Cell at the IPSC, permanent positions (JMTG-U LOEs 2, 3, & 4)
  - Assist the IPSC in getting their lessons learned collectors down to the BN level in the ATO (JMTG-U LOEs 2, 3, & 4)
  - Establish an assessment process to determine the effectiveness of the JMTG-U training POI for units within the ATO (JMTG-U LOE 2)
- UNCLASSIFIED
- ARMY STRONG EUROPE!* JMTG-U Command Brief 9

Note (on page 9 of The Briefing) the reference to the Ukrainian National Guard – a militia group notorious for it being home to many far right / neo-NAZI individuals and sub-groups.

Notably, the emphasis within the supposedly 'peace keeper' JMTG-U has been of training for urban warfare - not defence of Ukraine's borders. The US/NATO military assistance has been in regard to military action with the DONBASS.

UK COMMANDERS IN UKRAINE MET NEO-NAZI-LINKED NATIONAL GUARD TO ‘DEEPEN MILITARY COOPERATION’

Ukraine’s National Guard says that in meeting last year the UK military agreed to start training its forces, which include a thousand-strong neo-Nazi unit. The UK Ministry of Defence disputes the claim.

- Photos of meeting in Kyiv last year – which UK personnel thought was private – were posted by Ukraine’s National Guard (NGU)
- UK MoD tells Declassified it has no plans to train NGU and that British commander was misquoted
- But UK military is engaging with NGU and aware of “the peculiarities of [its] combat operations”
- Apparent member of another far-right Ukrainian group was trained at Sandhurst in 2020

Details and photos of the meeting in the capital, Kyiv, were posted in Ukrainian on the website of Ukraine’s National Guard (NGU) last year.

Declassified understands the UK Ministry of Defence (MoD) believed the September 2021 meeting to be private and should not have been publicised. There is no mention of the meeting in any UK records that are publicly available.

Three British commanders of Operation Orbital – the UK military’s training mission in Ukraine – are pictured, alongside three NGU officers. They sit around a table taking notes.

The screenshot shows the Facebook profile of the 7th Army Training Command. The profile picture is a stylized triangle with yellow, red, and blue sections. The name is "7th Army Training Command" with a verified badge. The bio says "@7thATC · Government organisation". There is a "Send Message" button and a greeting: "Hi! Please let us know how we can help." Below the profile are navigation tabs for Home, About, Events, Videos, and More. A post from 30 September 2021 is visible, describing training exercises for Ukrainian military police with Polish and Latvian counterparts. The post text includes: "Military Police with the Armed Forces Ukraine train with #Polish and #Latvian MP's on crowd control and escalation de-escalation techniques during #RapidTrident 21. Ukrainian Military Law-Enforcement Service (VSP) Armed Forces of #Ukraine together with the Polish and Lithuanian MP are sharpening crowd control skills and developing techniques for eliminating the growing conflict. The image shows a news article snippet. The main image depicts a soldier in camouflage gear with a rifle, standing in a doorway or narrow passage. A civilian in a blue shirt and black pants is being pushed or guided by the soldier. Another civilian in a grey hoodie is visible in the background. Below the image is a caption from "Stars and Stripes" with a "Visit" button. The caption text reads: "NATO allies, Ukraine wrap up Rapid Trident exercise testing US-backed modernization efforts | Stars an...". At the bottom of the snippet, it says "Images may be subject to copyright. Learn more".

Again, there is the apparent emphasis on 'house clearing' (of civilians) exercises.

Three U.S. B-52s Fly Mission Over Ukraine's Sea of Azov Coast

2020-09-04 20:25:00 | ID: 59536

The U.S. strategic bombers, tracking online, have flown inside Ukrainian airspace and operated quite close to the border with Crimea.

One week after taking part in the one-day Allied Sky mission that saw 6 B-52s flying over the capitals of the 30 NATO countries, the BUFFs of the 5th Bomb Wing, from Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota, and deployed to RAF Fairford as part of BTF (Bomber Task Force) 20-4, have carried out another pretty interesting mission.

Launching from the UK shortly before 07.30LT on Sept. 4, 2020, three B-52s, #61-0034, #60-0005 and #60-0044, call signs "JULIA 51-52-53", flew all the way to Ukraine.

Two of the three bombers had their Mode-S transponder turned on, allowing them to be tracked during their trip toward the Black Sea region. Interestingly, the aircraft flew towards the Sea of Azov, then orbited for some minutes before heading north towards Kiev.

The Aviationist

This is from the 4th September 2020.

Note that these USAF B52 aircraft (bombers) were based in the UK (at USAF / 'RAF' Fairford).

This appears to have been an attempt to create an incident – to provoke a response from Russian forces in Crimea (at a risk to the US airmen's lives), and to initiate war within the region between NATO and Russia.

This UK RAF surveillance flight took place on the 22nd April 2022.

The flight path took it extremely close (i.e. within 1,000 ft.) to commercial air traffic departing from the Russian international airport at Sochi. It also appears to have been intended (by the UK / NATO) to create an incident, as a part of the anti-Russia propaganda war – even to the extent of endangering innocent (civilian) lives.

In these particular US/NATO flight operations the aircraft transponders have been kept active – and, obviously, with the intention of provoking a Russian military response.

SS Galizien, ie the 14th SS Grenadier Division, formerly known as the 14th Volunteer Division "Galicia", which was established during World War II from Galician volunteers of Ukrainian origin. This division was established in 1943, but was destroyed during the Lviv-Sandomierz operation, later rebuilt, intervening, for example, during the Slovak National Uprising and on May 10, 1945 surrendered to the Western Allies.
